

Environment Policy

As one of the West Country's leading landscaping organisations, Tony Benger Landscaping is involved at every stage of the landscape lifecycle, including maintenance, construction operation and seasonal activities.

Our objective is to fully integrate environmental and social factors into all business strategies with a view to enabling the company to contribute towards sustainable development.

Tony Benger Landscaping is committed to:

- continuously seeking to improve environmental performance
- recycling of construction materials and surplus resources
- composting and re-use of organic green waste materials
- salvaging, screening and re-use of topsoil, and subsoil
- recycling of packaging, plastics, metal and timber
- assessing the environmental and ecological impact of all current and future operations
- reducing pollution, emissions spillages and waste
- reducing the waste of all raw materials, energy and supplies
- raising awareness, encouraging participation and training employees in environmental, ecological and recycling matters
- expecting similar environmental standards from suppliers and contractors
- assisting customers to use products and services in an environmentally sensitive way
- complying with the requirements of environmental legislation and approved codes of practice
- maintaining an awareness of environmental issues and developments
